PICK CASTS FOR DRAMA FETE

CLASS DAY EVENTS TO FEATURE WEEK

Dr. Fosbick to Deliver Commencement Address; Baccalaureate by Dr. Tucker

PROM DATE CHANGED

To Choose Valedictorian, Salutator, Poet and Prophet At Class Day Exercises

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosbick, President of Union Theological Seminary, will deliver the Commencement address at the exercises to be held June 3, in the Washington Auditorium. The commencement program will mark the close of a full week of activities being planned by the university administration, alumni, and the Senior Week Committee.

The date of the Senior Prom, previously announced as May 28, has been definitely set as Friday, May 2, in the large ball room of the New Willard. Music for Prom will be furnished by twelve pieces of Meyer Davis' Orchestra; unique favors for the ladies have been ordered and attractive programs in buff and blue bearing the University seal, have been selected.

The annual reception given by the general Alumni Club for members of the graduating classes, which is the first on the Senior Week program, will be held Wednesday evening, May 27, at the Washington Club.

Dr. Henry St. George Tucker, of the Theological Seminary of Alexandria, Va., will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday afternoon, May 31. The services will be held either in Corcoran Hall or on the University campus.

On Monday, June 1, the graduates will make their annual pilgrimage to the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon. Following the return from Mount Vernon the Faculty-Pyramid baseball game will be played Monday afternoon. Last year the faculty players were awarded the victory under protest and this year the Pyramid expect to adjust their differences. On June 2, President and Mrs. Lewis are holding a reception for members of the graduating classes.

The final day of Senior Week will open with the Class Day exercises to be held on the University campus, beginning at 10.30, and will close with the commencement exercises that evening at 8.00 o'clock. As a part of the Class Day program, speeches will be delivered by all of the Senior Class Presidents, the Senior having the highest scholastic average will be named Class Valedictorian; the Senior with the next highest average will be named class salutatorian, and a class poet and class prophet will be chosen. Addresses will also be delivered by two of the deans.

PLAN SPRING CONCERTS FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Men's Glee Club will give its first formal spring concert, Friday, May 1, at the Park View Christian Church, Park Road and Georgia Avenue, N. W.

This concert will undoubtedly be a very fine one as the singers have been undergoing some strenuous practice in the past month. The admission is 50 cents and students should take advantage of this opportunity to hear some good music.

Concerts are scheduled for May 6 and 8 at the Grace Reformed and the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Churches respectively. These concerts are both expected to draw large houses.

The night of May 14, the glee club will give its spring concert for the school in the gymnasium. This concert will be characteristic of the kind of recitals the club has been giving on such occasions. There will probably be dancing afterward.

The men are working hard under the leadership of Director Robert Harmon and with the coaching of Mischa Guterson, director of the Rialto orchestra.

At this time all the attention of the glee club is focused on the four concerts scheduled during the approaching fortnight. When these have been satisfactorily put over, other plans will be made.

PLAY FINALS SUNDAY IN GIRLS' TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Frances Walker, captain of the G. W. girls' tennis team, defeated Amelia Adkins in the semi-final match of the Girls' Tennis Tournament last Tuesday on the courts at 17th and B streets.

The finals of the tournament will be between Frances Walker, winner of the cup last year, and Cecyle Taylor. Miss Taylor has won several cups outside of college and is one of the steadiest players in the District, so this should be a very interesting and exciting match. It will be played on Sunday afternoon, May 3, at the Dumbarton Club at 4 o'clock.

HATCHET MEN SECOND IN PENN RELAY MEET

Dual Meet With Juniata At Eastern High Stadium Saturday Afternoon

The George Washington mile relay team made a splendid showing at the Penn Relay Carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Saturday. Entered in a class mile-relay event with Boston University, Catholic University, Western Maryland, Randolph-Macon, St. John's College, Manhattan College, and Loyola College, the George Washington team, composed of John Loehler, Ivan Hewitt, Hilroy Tolson, and Capt. William Simmons, running in the order named, finished a scant 2 yards behind Boston University, whose team negotiated the distance in 3:30 2/5.

George Washington's time was 3:30 4/5, the fastest time made by a Hatchette mile relay team within the past eight years. The average quarter-mile turned in by the four men was 52 3/5 seconds, and Tolson and Simmons were each credited by timers in doing the distance in 51 3/5 seconds.

Loehler, who ran the first relay, got the pole and, running in form, handed the baton to Hewitt with only his Boston University opponent 2 yards in the van. Hewitt ran a nice race and handed the stick to Tolson with a Boston runner about 13 feet ahead.

In the exchange of the baton Hewitt's spikes caught in the rear of Tolson's right shoe, ripping it off, forcing Tolson to run his quarter with one shoe. He caught the Boston runner on the backstretch, however, and for the balance of the quarter it was a neck-and-neck affair.

Tolson passed the baton to Captain Simmons 3 feet back of his anchor relay opponent. Simmons, as a result of a lightning exchange of the baton, was immediately on the heels of the Boston man. The two ran a splendid quarter, but were so evenly matched that Simmons was unable to pass and the race ended with only 2 yards between them.

The team from St. John's College (Annapolis), which finished third, came in about 45 yards behind the Boston University and G. W. U. runners.

Saturday afternoon, May 2, the track team meets Juniata College in a dual meet to be held at the Eastern High School stadium. Last year Juniata won at Huntington by a score of 63 1/2 to 60 1/2, and the track team is determined to even things up this year. The meet will begin promptly at 1.30 p. m.

MAY BALL OF ENGINEERS TO BE GALA OCCASION

The gymnasium will be the scene of the second costume dance of the year next Friday night when the annual May Ball is held under the direction of the Engineering Society.

The gym will be attractively decorated and features will be offered in the nature of appropriate favors and professional entertainers. Happy Walker's Black and White Orchestra will furnish the inspiration.

In order to avoid checking difficulties experienced in past gymnasium functions trained checkers and doormen from Rauscher's have been engaged for the evening. Ray Buckley, Bill Roesser, and Dave Strothers are members of the entertainment committee in charge.

Dancing will be from 10 to 1, and tickets are on sale at $3 per couple.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAMS LIST TWO MORE MEETS

Meet North Carolina Here May 2, and Maryland at College Park May 12

After several weeks of inaction the George Washington Men's Debating Team is preparing to add two more victories to its credit by way of concluding the season. They have already had a most successful year, and while the remaining contests do not promise to be easily won, they are confident of losing no more.

Trimble and Ogg are exercising their forensic abilities for the meeting next Saturday evening in Corcoran Hall with the team from the University of North Carolina to move the adoption of the resolution that the Child Labor Amendment be adopted.

The other event scheduled for May 12 is to take place at the University of Maryland, where Trimble, Hoagland and Crowell will pit their oratorical strength against that of the visited school in approving the action of the President in signing the bill for the increase of salaries of members of Congress.

These two contests promise to be interesting, especially since both the teams in each contest have had a successful year. They are therefore well matched.

The Girls' team has concluded its program with an even score, while the Boys' team has lost none of its contests so far. It is to be hoped that they will be able to maintain this record through the season.

Attendance at the debate to be held in Corcoran Hall next Saturday by a large majority of the students of George Washington is urged.

PHI MU OFFERS PRIZE FOR BEST ONE ACT PLAY

Competition is now open for the annual playwriting prize of $15.00, offered by Beta Alpha Chapter of Phi Mu for the best one-act play submitted by a student in the University.

The award is to be made by the English Department and plays should be presented to Professor Croissant who is in charge of the contest.

The "deadline" is set for May 15, after which time no plays submitted may be considered for the prize.

COL. MITCHELL TO SPEAK ON MODERN AIR POWER

Former Chief of Air Service One of University's Most Distinguished Alumni

Col. William Mitchell, former assistant chief of Air Service, United States Army, and one of the leading aeronautic experts of the day, will speak at Corcoran Hall, Wednesday evening, April 29, 1925, at 8 o'clock, on "Modern Air Power." The lecture will be open to the public, and a large audience is expected. Colonel Mitchell has given no information as to the content of his address, but it is expected to be similar to a series of articles now being published in the Saturday Evening Post, dealing particularly with the development of air power and its role to be played in the future. The lecture will be illustrated with slides and motion pictures.

George Washington University ranks Colonel Mitchell among the foremost of its many distinguished alumni. Born at Nice, France, of American parents, he was educated both abroad and in this country. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War he entered the Army as a private, but quickly rose to the rank of second lieutenant. In 1899 he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from G. W. U. and then continued his military career in the Regular Army, seeing active service again in the Philippine Insurrection. Colonel Mitchell was then detailed to Alaska where he completed the Alaskan telegraph system. With the advent of hostilities in Europe, August, 1914, he was sent to France where, as an observer, he was attached to the French Aviation Corps, thus beginning his hectic career in that field at a time when aeronautic history was made daily. The United States entry into the war furnished Colonel Mitchell an opportunity to demonstrate his unusual ability. He was the first American officer to fly over enemy territory. Later, when chief of Air Service, he led the greatest air armada in history, composed of American, French, and British planes, in a raid over the enemies' lines at St. Mihiel. Of the numerous honors and citations awarded Mitchell, then a general, among the most notable were the Croix de Guerre, with five palms; Commander of the Legion of Honor, and Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Aside from his aeronautical achievements, Colonel Mitchell is one of this country's most noted big-game hunters and horsemen. Recently he returned from an extensive hunt in India, where, accompanied by his wife, he bagged several excellent tiger specimens. These, which he donated to the American Museum of Natural History, are the first Asiatic specimens to be received by that institution. Sometime within the next two or three years he intends to visit Africa and again to India, where he hopes to obtain a greater variety of game, particularly Asiatic, which is extremely rare, for the Smithsonian Institution. The colonel's equestrian abilities are well known in Army circles and in Washington where he and his splendid mounts are familiar figures at all horse shows and on the bridal paths. At one time he was a member of the champion Army polo team.

LEGAL CLUB BREAKFAST

Breakfast was held by the Women's Legal Club in Rock Creek Park, last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. A wood fire was built and breakfast cooked over the ashes. Mary Connor was chairman of the committee in charge.

Wide Variety Offered by Varsity Players Including Everything from One Act Plays to Musical Comedy

The first varsity plays to be presented in a George Washington University building, will be shown in the new Gymnasium Theatre, May 5, 9, 12 and 16, on which dates the Mimes, the Players, Dionysians and Troubadours, respectively, will present their programs.

President Lewis has been extended on invitation and has promised to attend at least one of the productions.

The Mimes will open the "Dramatic Festival" on Tuesday, May 5, with two one-act plays—"Society Notes," by John West and "Judge Lynch," by John William Rogers, Jr., the casts of which are as follows: Mary Keane, Mary Griffith, Lora Gates, Ben Cain, Raymond Johnson, and Stanley Bladenburg in "Society Notes," and Anne Wrightson, Lonnelle Davison, John Stevens and Charlie Hayes in "Judge Lynch." In addition to the plays, a miniature concert by Cecil Cain and incidental music by Kenneth Mulford, will be given.

The G. W. Players are presenting on May 9, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, with the following cast: Edward Moulton, Kermit Girdner, Vincent Stubbs, Clay Powell, Elsie Talbert, Marceline Gray, Ruth Hutchinson and Alice Williams.

The Dionysians' program consists of two plays, namely, the Duchess of Malfi by John Webster and "The Silent Woman" by Ben Jonson. In the cast of the former are Robert Pollock, Katherine Wright, Everett Johnson, Roy Dugan, Thomas Bentley, Gertrude Young, Jean Hoffman and Gertrude Phillips; and in the latter, Ruth Cole, Elizabeth Halsey, Judson Kanppen, Harry Gilstrap, Raymond Weber, Joseph Milenky, Frank Holmes, Rozelle Weed and Ada Dorr.

The Festival will close on May 16, with the presentation by the Troubadours of "The Miniature Lady," an operetta, written by Lida Larrimore Turner and R. M. Status. In the cast are Helen Boyd, Maxine De Silvia, Annabelle Lloyd, Gene Herbert, Ruth Hutchison, Edward Everett, Vincent Stubbs, Edward Moulton, Robert Barnes, Pearl Wetmore, Anne Jones, Joan Collins, Clay Powell, Charles Keyser and Roy Crowell. This list does not include the chorus, since the size of the stage necessitates the making of some changes before the final production.

Instead of the usual sheet program, a souvenir booklet will appear at the door for sale on the opening night for a moderate sum. In this booklet will be found the history of each dramatic organization, its founders, aspirations and inspirations, hopes and ideals for George Washington dramatics. No advertising matter is to appear in the programs, thus lending dignity to the souvenirs.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from members of the four producing clubs or at the Treasurer's office, for $3.00 a season ticket and $1.00 a single performance, with a discount of 25 cents from the single ticket to holders of activity books. Only coupon No. 25 in the student activity book (and which must be attached) is acceptable and such coupon must be presented with the ticket at the door in order to get the discount.

LEGAL SORORITY OFFERS NEW SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

Kappa Beta Pi announces that it will award an annual prize of $25 to the second year woman elected to the benches who has the highest scholastic average. This is a new prize and second year students of this term will be the first to compete for it.

Women students recently elected to Kappa Beta Pi are Dorothy Disney, Maria Davidson, Marguerite Moore, and Gertrude Rioridan. A pledge party in honor of the new lawyers was held on April 14 at the home of Marion Schwartz.

In March Miss Olive E. Geiger, a member of the sorority, was admitted to the United States Supreme Court on motion of her father, Fred C. Geiger. Miss Geiger is chairman of the Legislative Committee of the National Women's Party, and addressed the members of the society recently on the subject, "Legal Disabilities of Women in the District of Columbia."

WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL 28, 1925

A DREAM OF JOURNALISTS

There seems to be a reason for almost everything in our college life, even those so-called "surreptitious" publications such as the Petticoat, published annually by the Gamma Eta Zeta journalistic sorority, the third issue of which has just made its appearance.

True it is that the Petticoat was printed on yellow paper, little of it is intended seriously and still less can be regarded as a standard for journalistic productions. But the Petticoat serves a purpose. And those responsible for its publication this year have not only noted the lamentable lack of proper facilities for the study of journalism in George Washington, but have made a direct, earnest and sincere appeal to the University administration to provide the facilities so sadly neglected.

These girls have chosen a profession, that of journalism, and are seriously entering into the preparation for their future. Hundreds of other students in George Washington are here for the same reason, and all are faced with the same handicap—lack of an adequate journalistic department. Many other prospective students turn away rather than pursue a course of study which will not materially benefit them in their life work.

We are located in the capital of the world's greatest nation, and probably the greatest news center in the world. Nearly a dozen colleges and universities of recognized standing within a radius of ten miles impart knowledge and professional training to thousands of students annually—and not one of these institutions offer more than a most elementary training in journalism.

No university can well afford to develop one department to the exclusion of another unless that university is tending toward specialization in some particular field of education. And journalism, which furnishes a livelihood to a vast and rapidly increasing number of people, cannot be neglected for courses in dead languages, dead literature and dead history. All are essential.

"LITTLE ORPHAN ANN"

"Little Orphan Ann has come to our house to stay." She has been playing around our house for a long, long time, but somehow folks seemed to have overlooked her. The discouraged, disappointed little orphan at last found friends and this year they built her a little play-room in the Gymnasium, gave her money on which to dress up, and encouraged her to continue to work hard. So happy is she that on May 5, 9, 12, and 16, our little friend is going to entertain the University with several plays.

The "little orphan" is none other than the dramatic organizations in the University. For over a half a century they have patiently sat on the doorsteps of George Washington asking to be let in. All they received was an occasional penny in the hat and pat on the head for encouragement, with a possible "when you grow up little girl, we'll see what we can do," to keep the spark of hope still burning. When she did grow up, she was such a pretty little thing, such an asset to anyone, that they decided to let her in and bought her pretty little things to play with.

There passed many years of discouraging results, discouraging prophecies, languid support, and disappointments before the organizations finally convinced the proper persons that dramatics was a thriving and promising activity worthy of support. But then what is failure when success crowns your last efforts?

Probably no other organization has been confronted with so many discouraging obstacles and still fought on to gain its end. There is only one answer—the students who interested themselves in the promotion of dramatics worked, not for the honors and glory, but for the love of acting. They were sincere and earnest. When support was refused, they never gave up. Now they have by their own sincere efforts convinced others of the bright future in store for the drama, a future they have foreseen for many years.

The present George Washington University Dramatic Association, composed of four active producing societies, is the result of the Mimes' and Players' diligent efforts. The present general organization is functioning under a system that has proved most efficient and dependable, only because the four producing clubs have adapted themselves to conditions and associated themselves with one another for the express purpose of uniting their efforts to better each other.

It has in the short period of its existence, earned the confidence of the student body and the support of the University and its affiliated organizations. It has earned the right to support by the sincere and earnest efforts of its members. Unlike many activities the work covers a period of one year before it is finished for presentation to the student body.

May 5 marks the opening of the "Little Theatre Movement" in George Washington. May 5, plays will be presented for the first time on a stage owned by the University in a building belonging to the University. May 5, we should visit the Gymnasium to see the "Little Orphan" show her gratitude.

CORRECTION

In the last issue of the Hatchet appeared an article giving the names of a large number of delegates to the meeting of the American Chemical Society at Baltimore, April 6 to 10, who read papers before the society, and who were listed in the Hatchet story as George Washington students. This was an error, only eight of those listed, Berliner, May, Hahn, Robinson, Markley, Knight, Murray and Roberts, are George Washington students. The majority of the others mentioned are prominent chemists connected with the faculties of other universities.

This is a fine place to bring that "out of town" friend.

EXCHANGES

The system of having afternoon classes has been revived at Princeton University. No classes have been held there in the afternoon for twenty years.

Freshmen at the University of California are busy scrubbing the red paint off the large "C" which is in a back hall of the campus. The original color of this letter is gold, and it is the duty of the freshmen to keep it immaculate during the school year.

At Amherst twenty juniors and seniors, who have an average of 85 percent or better, in their studies for the past term, have been granted unlimited cuts in all classes.

MORNING TELEGRAPH TO CONDUCT PLAY CONTEST

Believing that America has started an era which will make it a formidable rival of all other nations in artistic products, the New York Morning Telegraph, acting as spokesman for the theater among the country's daily publications, is endeavoring to find new talent in drama, and to this end is offering a prize of $1,000 in advance royalties to the man or woman who submits the best full-fledged play to its contest editor on or before August 1, this year.

Because so many of the recent popular plays have come from persons but a few years out of college, and from some still on the campus, the Morning Telegraph is making an especial appeal to the students of drama throughout America's various institutions of learning, although it by no means considers others ineligible.

The restrictions, in fact, are few. One-act plays and operas, of course, cannot be entered, and musical comedies shall not be seriously considered, but any other form of full-length drama, ranging from tragedy to comedy and satire will be welcomed. One other restriction arises out of the Morning Telegraph's campaign for new material: Any person who has had a production on Broadway is automatically barred from the contest.

The Morning Telegraph promises that the winning play will be produced in some well-known Broadway playhouse and guarantees, regardless of the outcome of the venture, $1,000 to the prize-winning playwright, who will benefit otherwise just as any successful playwright, with full royalties and the utmost in the way of publicity.

Among the girls out of town for Easter hops at various colleges have been Frances Walker at U. of Va.; Helen Hall at Boston Tech and Smith College; Helen Walten at University of Cincinnati, and Nan Darton in New Jersey. Cally Shoemaker, Virginia Williams, Tom De Lashmutt and Bill O'Brien also motored to U. of Va. for Easter week.

Annette Thomas Steel, a member of Delta Zeta, and John Gardner Ladd, Theta Delta Chi, defied superstition and were married on April 13, in the Episcopal Church in Mechanicsburg, Pa., the ceremony taking place at 3 o'clock, and was followed by a reception at the bride's home, after which the young couple left for Florida where they will spend their honeymoon.

Ho for the land of Cheese, Chocolate, and yodels! We went alping first thing this morning among the foothills to get in condition for the Olympic's Yodeling contest day after tomorrow. Imagine representing our country in such a famous international tit!

I put the finishing touches on a new crescendo-profundo yodel with which we hope to carry the field. Jack is acting as my all-round manager, rubber, and trainer and I have to give him credit in spite of our spat over Kitty.

This is a beautiful country, old feline, but you can't help but notice how the advertisers have slipped up on a wonderful opportunity to cover the mountainsides.

GIRLS' NET TEAM WINS MATCH WITH GALLAUDET

Play Fredericksburg State Teachers
College Monday on Trip
Through Virginia

Women racketers of the University scored a clean sweep of their match with the Gallaudet College team last Wednesday afternoon, winning all five matches. The Buff and Blue netwomen had little trouble sweeping the singles sets, but were forced to fight to take the two doubles matches. Frances Walker, captain of the Hatchet team, easily disposed of the Gallaudet captain, Mary Kannapel, winning by a score of 6-2, 6-0. Cecyle Taylor, playing second for G. W., won her match 6-1, 6-2, while Louise Omwake, rated third, won by the scores of 6-4, 6-2.

The doubles teams, composed of Elizabeth Chickering and Edith Petrie and Marie Didden and Miriam Davis, won over their opponents by the scores of 6-2, 6-2 and 7-5, 7-5, respectively. The latter two players pulled a noteworthy comeback when, with the count 5-1 against them in the first set, they pulled the match out of the fire by winning six straight games.

On May 4 the girls go to Fredericksburg, Va., to play the Fredericksburg State Teachers' College. Following the Fredericksburg match the team will play Richmond College and William and Mary. National Park Seminary will probably be met in Washington Friday afternoon.

Spring football practice.
G. W. Club.
Interclass track meet.
A New Nickname.

Irvin McGrew

Twenty-five Hatchette gridmen are working out daily on the monument lot under the tutelage of Maud Crum, trying to get into shape for the real work next fall.

Spring football practice serves many purposes in the football world of today. It enables the coach to get a line on the ability of the men, and also on what points they are weakest; it prevents the men themselves from getting "soft" during the long layoff from December to September; it serves as a reminder to the men that they have further duties to perform for their university, and last but not least it teaches them the rudiments and fundamentals of the game at a time when they do not have to be worrying of games, signals and the finer and more intricate points. Blocking, tackling, running, charging, kicking and passing are some of the points usually stressed, and until these are mastered by the individual there can be no real team play.

The G. W. Club, under the able leadership of "Bunn" Tolson, serves a real purpose at George Washington. Much of its work is done behind the scenes and is not generally recognized by the layman but if it served no other purpose than of keeping the wearers of the G. W. together and united for better and bigger athletic policies, it would accomplish much.

The interclass track and field meet is the product of the activities of the G. W. Club, and also several social functions and dances have been given under its auspices, the proceeds of which have been turned over to various athletic funds. The wearers of the letter of the university are a live group and are always attempting to help athletics along its hard road of progress.

The interclass track and field meet, now an annual event at George Washington also serves many purposes. It develops a good-natured rivalry among the classes, it helps to bring out undeveloped stars in the track game, and serves as a get-together for all students in the university. Competition between the Fraternities and Sororities is always keen and interesting. One somewhat neglected feature of G. W. athletics, the women's events are not neglected here.

Tongmen is the nickname given to the George Washington athletes by one of the local dailies. This name was in print consistently all of the past year and there seems to be no idea in the minds of the writers of stopping. George Washington University is very rich in traditions and the nickname for its athletes is based on one of the oldest and most traditional of the traditions. There seems to be little reason for the name used by this paper and the older one of Hatchettes appears to fit the university and its traditions much better than the newer one of Tongmen.

CHEMISTS LEADING IN RACE FOR TITLE

Engineers Close Behind As Inter-Departmental Baseball Contest Narrows

PRE-MEDS FORFEIT ALL

Chemists Drop First Game of Season to Engineers By Close Score

Race for honors in the inter-departmental baseball league has narrowed down to a fight between the Chemists and the Engineers, although Columbian College can be looked upon to furnish plenty of trouble. The Chemists have dropped but one of six games played, while the Engineers have won four and lost one. The Pre-Meds continue to forfeit games to the rest of the teams, incidentally saving Columbian College from a percentage of zero.

The Chemists were defeated for the first time this season last Wednesday by a score of six to five, when Sanderson for the Engineers outpitched Clapper in one of the closest and hardest fought games to date. Sanderson allowed only four hits off of his delivery and fanned eleven while Clapper struck out thirteen and allowed seven hits. Loose fielding on the part of both teams in the first inning was responsible for the three runs each side scored. For the Chemists, Fox walked, advanced on a sacrifice hit after Valentine had been hit by Sanderson. Valentine stole second and went to third when Hahn messed up and grounded by Andree. Maieran walked, filling the bases. Valentine and Andree scored when Sanderson made a wild pitch.

The Engineers came back with vengeance and proceeded to lash out three runs to tie the score. Cohill singled, advanced to second on Curtis' grounder which should have been a force-out. Cohill and Curtis engineered a double steal and Cohill scored when Fox fumbled Frisby's grounder, Curtis taking third. Curtis and Frisby scored when Hahn uncorked a single to center.

The Chemists broke the tie in the second when McNiminy singled and advanced to third as Breslow and Suile were each hit by Sanderson. McNiminy scored on an error by Frisby. The score was tied again in third at four all when Curtis walked, stole second, then third, and later scored on an error by Fox.

In the fifth inning another run was marked up by the Engineers, breaking the tied score. Frisby singled, stole second, advanced to third and was safe at home after being doubled off base. Things remained the same until the eighth inning when the Chemists evened the count. Valentine opened up with a single and took third on Andree's one base blow. Fruchter walked, filling the bases. Valentine scored on McNale's grounder. Sanderson pitched himself out of a hole beautifully, the next three being easy outs.

In the Engineers' half of the inning they broke the existing tie, and won the game. Cohill singled, Curtis walked, Gessford walked, and Cohill scored as Frisby singled. Final score Engineers, 6, Chemists 5.

Columbian College was easy for the Chemists in their game Saturday, the latter winning eight to three in seven innings. Clapper was again on the mound for the Chemists, holding his opponents at bay, and striking out 10. Hotel started for the Columbians and was touched for quite a few base hits that meant runs. Smi'h pitched the seventh and no damage to speak of was done.

The Chemists got off to a good start and had three runs to their credit before their inning was up. Fruchter walked and Newman was safe on an error. Clapper stepped to bat and lined a hot one out to right field which went for a home run because of mighty slow fielding.

Columbian College started off like they were going to make things interesting, as Stanton singled and reached second on a play from Hotel's bat. Maytum walked, filling the bases. Smith lined a beautiful single over second, scoring Stanton and Hotel. After the first inning, however, everything done in the way of scoring went to the Chemists, excepting a lone run presented to Columbian College as a gift.

Professor Bolwell played at short-stop for Columbian College. He did not handle himself in the field as he has been known to do in the past, and lack of practice has dimmed his batting eye.

Valentine was credited with a three-base hit and Andree with a two-bagger.

Standing of the teams in the inter-departmental league is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
Chemists	5	1	.833
Engineers	4	1	.800
Columbian	2	3	.400
Pre-Meds	0	6	.000

SWARTHMORE DEFEATS HATCHETTE RACKETERS

Visiting Team Takes Every Match In Both Singles and Doubles In Friday's Meet

In matches much closer than the scores would indicate the Swarthmore tennis team won from the George Washington racket men at the G. W. courts Friday afternoon, taking every match in doubles and singles.

Despite Friday's defeat, Manager Rutley still has faith in the team and predicts several victories before the end of the season. Swarthmore is exceptionally strong this year, having several three-year men.

The most interesting sets were between Seymore, Swarthmore, and Baum, G. W., and between G. Hodge, Swarthmore, and New, G. W. These men were evenly matched and the matches were close.

The schedule for the next few weeks include matches with Georgetown, April 27; Catholic University, April 29; Franklin and Marshall, May 2. The matches will be played at the G. W. courts. In addition, G. W. will meet C. U. in a return engagement May 5 and enter the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate championship matches at the Columbia Country Club May 7, 8 and 9. Then several universities will be met on their home courts:

Summary of Friday's match:

Singles

Seymore (Swarthmore) defeated Baum (G. W. U.), 6-4, 6-2.
Dudley (Swarthmore) defeated Law (captain, G. W. U.), 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.
H. Hodges (Swarthmore) defeated Rutley (G. W. U.), 8-6, 6-2.
G. Hodges (Swarthmore) defeated New (G. W. U.), 6-1, 3-6, 8-6.
Van Hart (Swarthmore) defeated Duggan (G. W. U.), 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles

Seymore and H. Hodges (Swarthmore) defeated Baum and Rutley (G. W. U.), 6-2, 9-7.
Dudley and Van Hart (Swarthmore) defeated Abrams and Byrns (G. W. U.), 6-0, 6-3.

BUFF AND BLUE LINKMEN TO MEET BROOKLANDERS

Golfers of the Buff and Blue are to meet a team representing the Maroon and Black of Catholic University on the East Potomac links May 3. Six men will comprise each team.

Robert McGinness, manager of the Brookland linksmen, expects to start a strong team against the Hatchettes, and feels that he has an exceptionally strong college golfer in William Kyle, who was a runner-up in the Texas amateur championship tournament of 1920.

Captain Jo Bloom will start John F. Brawner, R. M. Brown, Joseph Bono, Bennett Conelly, Ralph H. Thrasher and himself against the Catholic University six.

A tournament including Georgetown, Catholic University, and George Washington has been proposed, each school entering as many men as they wished and the four highest to receive medals. Some difficulty has been encountered in getting Georgetown to enter such a tournament, and it may not succeed.

DEBATE SOCIETY HOLDS LAST FUSS OF YEAR

Bishop Socrates from North Carolina was the guest of honor at the regular meeting of the Columbian Debating Society last Friday evening in Corcoran Hall. He discussed the advantages of debating to the university student.

At the close of his remarks the meeting merged with the Philipinians into a joint meeting for the purpose of entering into a debate on the subject, Resolved: That the United States sell the Philippine Islands to Japan for Thirty Million Dollars. The debate was open in its nature so no decision as to the merits of the debaters on each side could be reached.

This meeting constituted the last regular meeting of the Columbian Debating Society for the current school year.

The Columbian Debaters are planning to meet the George Washington Orators next Tuesday, May 5, 1925. At that time it will be moved that Congress should have the power to pass the Child Labor Amendment over the veto of the States.

NOTICE!

Students who wish employment are advised to frequently consult the bulletin board of the office of the Dean of Women, in the hall of Building 2, where announcements of positions open will be posted.

SPRING GRID PRACTICE DRAWING TO A CLOSE

One Year Rule Not Effective Until End of Next Season

One week remains in which to round out spring football practice, and Coach Crum expects to work his men hard before dismissing them Saturday. Twenty-five men have been reporting for the early season workouts, and have been put through a series of punting, dropkicking, forward passing, and formations drills. These practice sessions are being held on the Tidal Basin gridiron since the early part of the month, and will serve as the basis for the fall football campaign.

In Hazen Bishop, a freshman from Michigan, Coach Crum thinks he has a find. The Bay Stater, who tips the beam at 165 pounds, is showing speed afoot and is getting off wonderful early season punts.

Captain Hotel has about 15 men of the 1924 team in these workouts, and about 10 new men have reported for duty.

As the proposed one-year rule will not be put into effect until after the fall football season, it is expected that a number of high school stars will be attracted to George Washington by the possibility of playing varsity football in their freshman year. It is also reported that other players of note will come to G. W. U. in the fall, and Coach Crum has hopes of sweeping his entire schedule.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT AT "PHILIPPINE NIGHT"

"Philippine Night" was presented in Corcoran Hall last Saturday evening, by Filipino students in the university, before a large audience. A program was presented consisting of a dance by Maria Clara Carballo, pretty five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cesar Carballo, and an entertaining performance by Ernesto Vallojo, a New York stage violinist. Professor Charles E. Hill, who has always shown great interest in Filipino affairs, was present, and in an address complimented his hosts on the success of their evening.

HISTORICAL PHOTOPLAY SHOWN BEFORE CHAPEL

One of the Chronicles of American photoplays, "The Eve of the Revolution," produced under the direction of the Yale University press, was presented in chapel at 12.20 and again at 4.50 on Monday, April 20.

The picture is a permanent contribution to American history. Starting with the riots between the colonists and the unwelcome British soldiers it gives in detail all the events up to the dissolution of the governors' assembly, showing the prominent men of the revolution such as Samuel Adams, George Washington and the British leaders.

The first battles of the Revolution at Lexington and Concord and the Boston tea party also played important parts.

The picture was considered to have great educational value as well as to be entertaining, by the university authorities. It was attended by one of the largest crowds that has yet assembled at the noon chapel.

Sophia Waldman, for two years manager of the George Washington University Women's Rifle Team and one of the premier members of this year's squad, was elected captain of the 1926 team by the last meeting of the letter members of the varsity squad. Miss Waldman has long been a prominent figure in rifle at G. W. U. and has done much to make the team one of the best in the world.

The Girls' Rifle Team has had a remarkable season, and has attained recognition over the United States as the foremost prone position team of the country. The Buff and Blue rifewomen have scored five perfect marks in their telegraphic matches and swept all as well as two shoulder-to-shoulder contests. The team again placed second to the University of Washington, winner of the 1924 match, in the N. R. A. Women's Intercollegiate Championship Match, shot at four positions, scoring 2,771 out of 3,000, 27 points less than the winner. University of Maryland scored third in the national match with a score of 2,516, while the University of Oklahoma shot 2,344 for fourth place.

Besides the individual championship for beginners, class matches were held at the close of the varsity season. June Cooper swept the Senior match with an average of 46 out of 50. Helen Lupton won the Junior meet with a score of 44 4/5. The Sophomore match was won by Lucille Spitzer with an average of 44, while the Freshman insignia went to Florence Ehret with a score of 44. COLLEGE CREATES FOUR GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS

Tufts College Offers Opportunity to Commerce Students Through Braker Endowment

Tufts College, of Massachusetts, through the bequest of Henry J. Braker, offers to holders of A. B. or B. S. degrees qualified to pursue graduate work leading to the M. S. degree in Commerce and Finance, four teaching fellowships known as the Braker Graduate Teaching Fellowships, and carrying annual stipends of $1,000 per Fellowship.

These fellowships are open without restriction to qualified graduates of recognized colleges, both men and women, who have evidenced superior ability in the field of economics and who are preparing to enter teaching or business. The Fellows are required to divide their time equally between teaching and study in the Department of Economics and Sociology at Tufts College.

Tufts College was organized in 1852 and began offering the Master's degree in 1860. Situated five miles from the heart of Boston, Tufts College is readily accessible by street car and railroad, so that besides the facilities offered by the college itself, the libraries, museums and other cultural advantages of Boston are near at hand, as well as business houses, manufacturing plants and other industrial institutions.

Applications of students interested in the Braker Fellowships should be filed not later than May 1, 1925, with Professor Joseph Mayer, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology, Tufts College, Massachusetts.

DANCE ENDS BUSY WEEK FOR MENORAH SOCIETY

Dean and Mrs. William Allen Wilbur headed the list of patrons and patronesses at a dance given by the Menorah Society of George Washington University last Saturday evening in the Gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. Mason Musher, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Schwefel, and Judge and Mrs. Milton Straffburger also lent their presence to the affair.

The hall was gaily decorated with bits of bright-colored paper and ornaments. Although it was feared that the rain during the early part of the evening would have a deterrent effect upon the success of the party, more than 50 couples had arrived soon after the hour set for the orchestra to begin to "strut its stuff," and until the Sangamo Band played "Home Sweet Home," "a good time was had by all." The Menorahites held their regular Thursday evening meeting last Thursday. The meeting this time was in the nature of an open discussion regarding the interest attraction of the Hebrew student in American universities.

APPLICATIONS READY FOR CITIZENS' CAMPS

District Students to be Sent to Camps Eustis and Meade for Summer Training

The Citizens' Military Training Camp movement for the summer is well under way, and as the quota of the District of Columbia is rapidly being filled, all students of the University interested in attending should file application blank at once. These blanks can be obtained from Maj. S. M. Corbett, of the Medical School, or by calling at the Hatchet office in the rear of Building 3 or at the Registrar's office.

Students from the District of Columbia taking either basic work or advanced infantry training will go to Fort Eustis, Va., while those interested in advanced cavalry, field artillery, and engineers will be sent to Camp Meade, Md. The training period is for 30 days, from July 1 to July 30, and the entire expenses, including board, clothes, and transportation, are stood by the Government. There is no military obligation whatever on those attending camp, and those attending are considered as civilians in every sense of the word.

The camps this year will be bigger and better than ever, every C. M. T. C. veteran is welcomed back, and all new men will find this an excellent opportunity to get a 30-day vacation in the fresh air and amid healthy surroundings without any cost whatsoever. Send in your blank before it is too late as the district quota is nearly complete. Let's go.
